876 dalai lama and 17-article agreement (2) 877 the local government of tibet, which was instigated and 878 supported by the imperialists, failed to send negotiators to beijing in time. On the one hand, this move was a vain attempt on their part to stall for a change in the situation, while on the other hand allowing them time to deploy troops to qamdo prefecture in a bid to prevent the movement of the pla, in addition to relying on the natural barrier created by the jinsha river.
